The Lessee shall cap ticket sales or otherwise limit admittance to ensure compliance (see Ticket Sales). Wellspring reserves the right to determine when an overcrowding condition and/or obstruction in aisles, passageways or other means of egress exists and shall cause the performance, presentation, or other rental event to be stopped until such condition or obstruction is corrected. Wellspring staff will enforce this policy strictly.
- ☞ No Smoking policy applies to all users at all times.

- ☞ The special flooring surface, designed for dance performance, may not be scratched, painted, permanently marked, cut, or punctured in any manner. Scenic units and/or equipment may not be attached to the floor and no materials may be used which might damage its surface. PVC or cloth tape must be used for "spiking"; masking or duct tape may not be applied to the floor.
- ☞ The white wall panel designed for projection (cyclorama), is extremely fragile and may be used only as a projection screen. All contact with the screen surface is to be avoided. Scenic units and/or equipment may not be attached to the panel and no tape or other materials may be used which might damage the surface.

Program Advertising

All materials advertising the program shall list the theater as: Wellspring Theater at the Epic Center. Name does not imply Wellspring or the Epic Center is supporting the event.

Ticket Sales

There generally is no objection to charging an admission fee for an event, but such intentions must be declared and approved in advance by Wellspring staff. Arrangements for door sales or use of/access to the Community Box Office is the responsibility of the Lessee. Wellspring has established a standard cap of 105 tickets per event with the Community Box Office. Wellspring staff may approve the release of additional tickets based on the capacity that is determined for the event. The Lessee is then responsible for all aspects of tickets sales, ticket collection, ushering, and ensuring compliance with the 127-person/150-person capacity limit.

Liability Insurance ($1,000,000 minimum)

Lessee must provide proof of insurance to Wellspring three weeks prior to rental date. Failure to provide proof of insurance will result in cancellation of the rental contract and loss of security deposit.

I have read and understand the rental policies of the Wellspring Theater.
